

Why Do Bees Love Flowers?

A long time ago when the world was still new, bees had their goddess. Her name was Flowen. Flowen loved bees more than anything. She gave them the power to make honey, but she had one rule she said "You will only work when you see me." Flowen was so beautiful and even flowers wanted to look like her. One day Flowen went far away and the bees never saw her again, she became invisible. The bees checked everywhere but they never found her and after that they had a mistake. They thought every flower was Flowen. Since that day, bees fly from flower to flower to make honey. They believe, they are touching their goddess. They still have hope of finding her and that's why they keep working. "Because love is not always finding, but always searching."
