

CUISINE ARCHITECTURE
CULTURE

MUSIC

FILM

ART
LITERATURE

SPORT

RELIGION

Did you know:

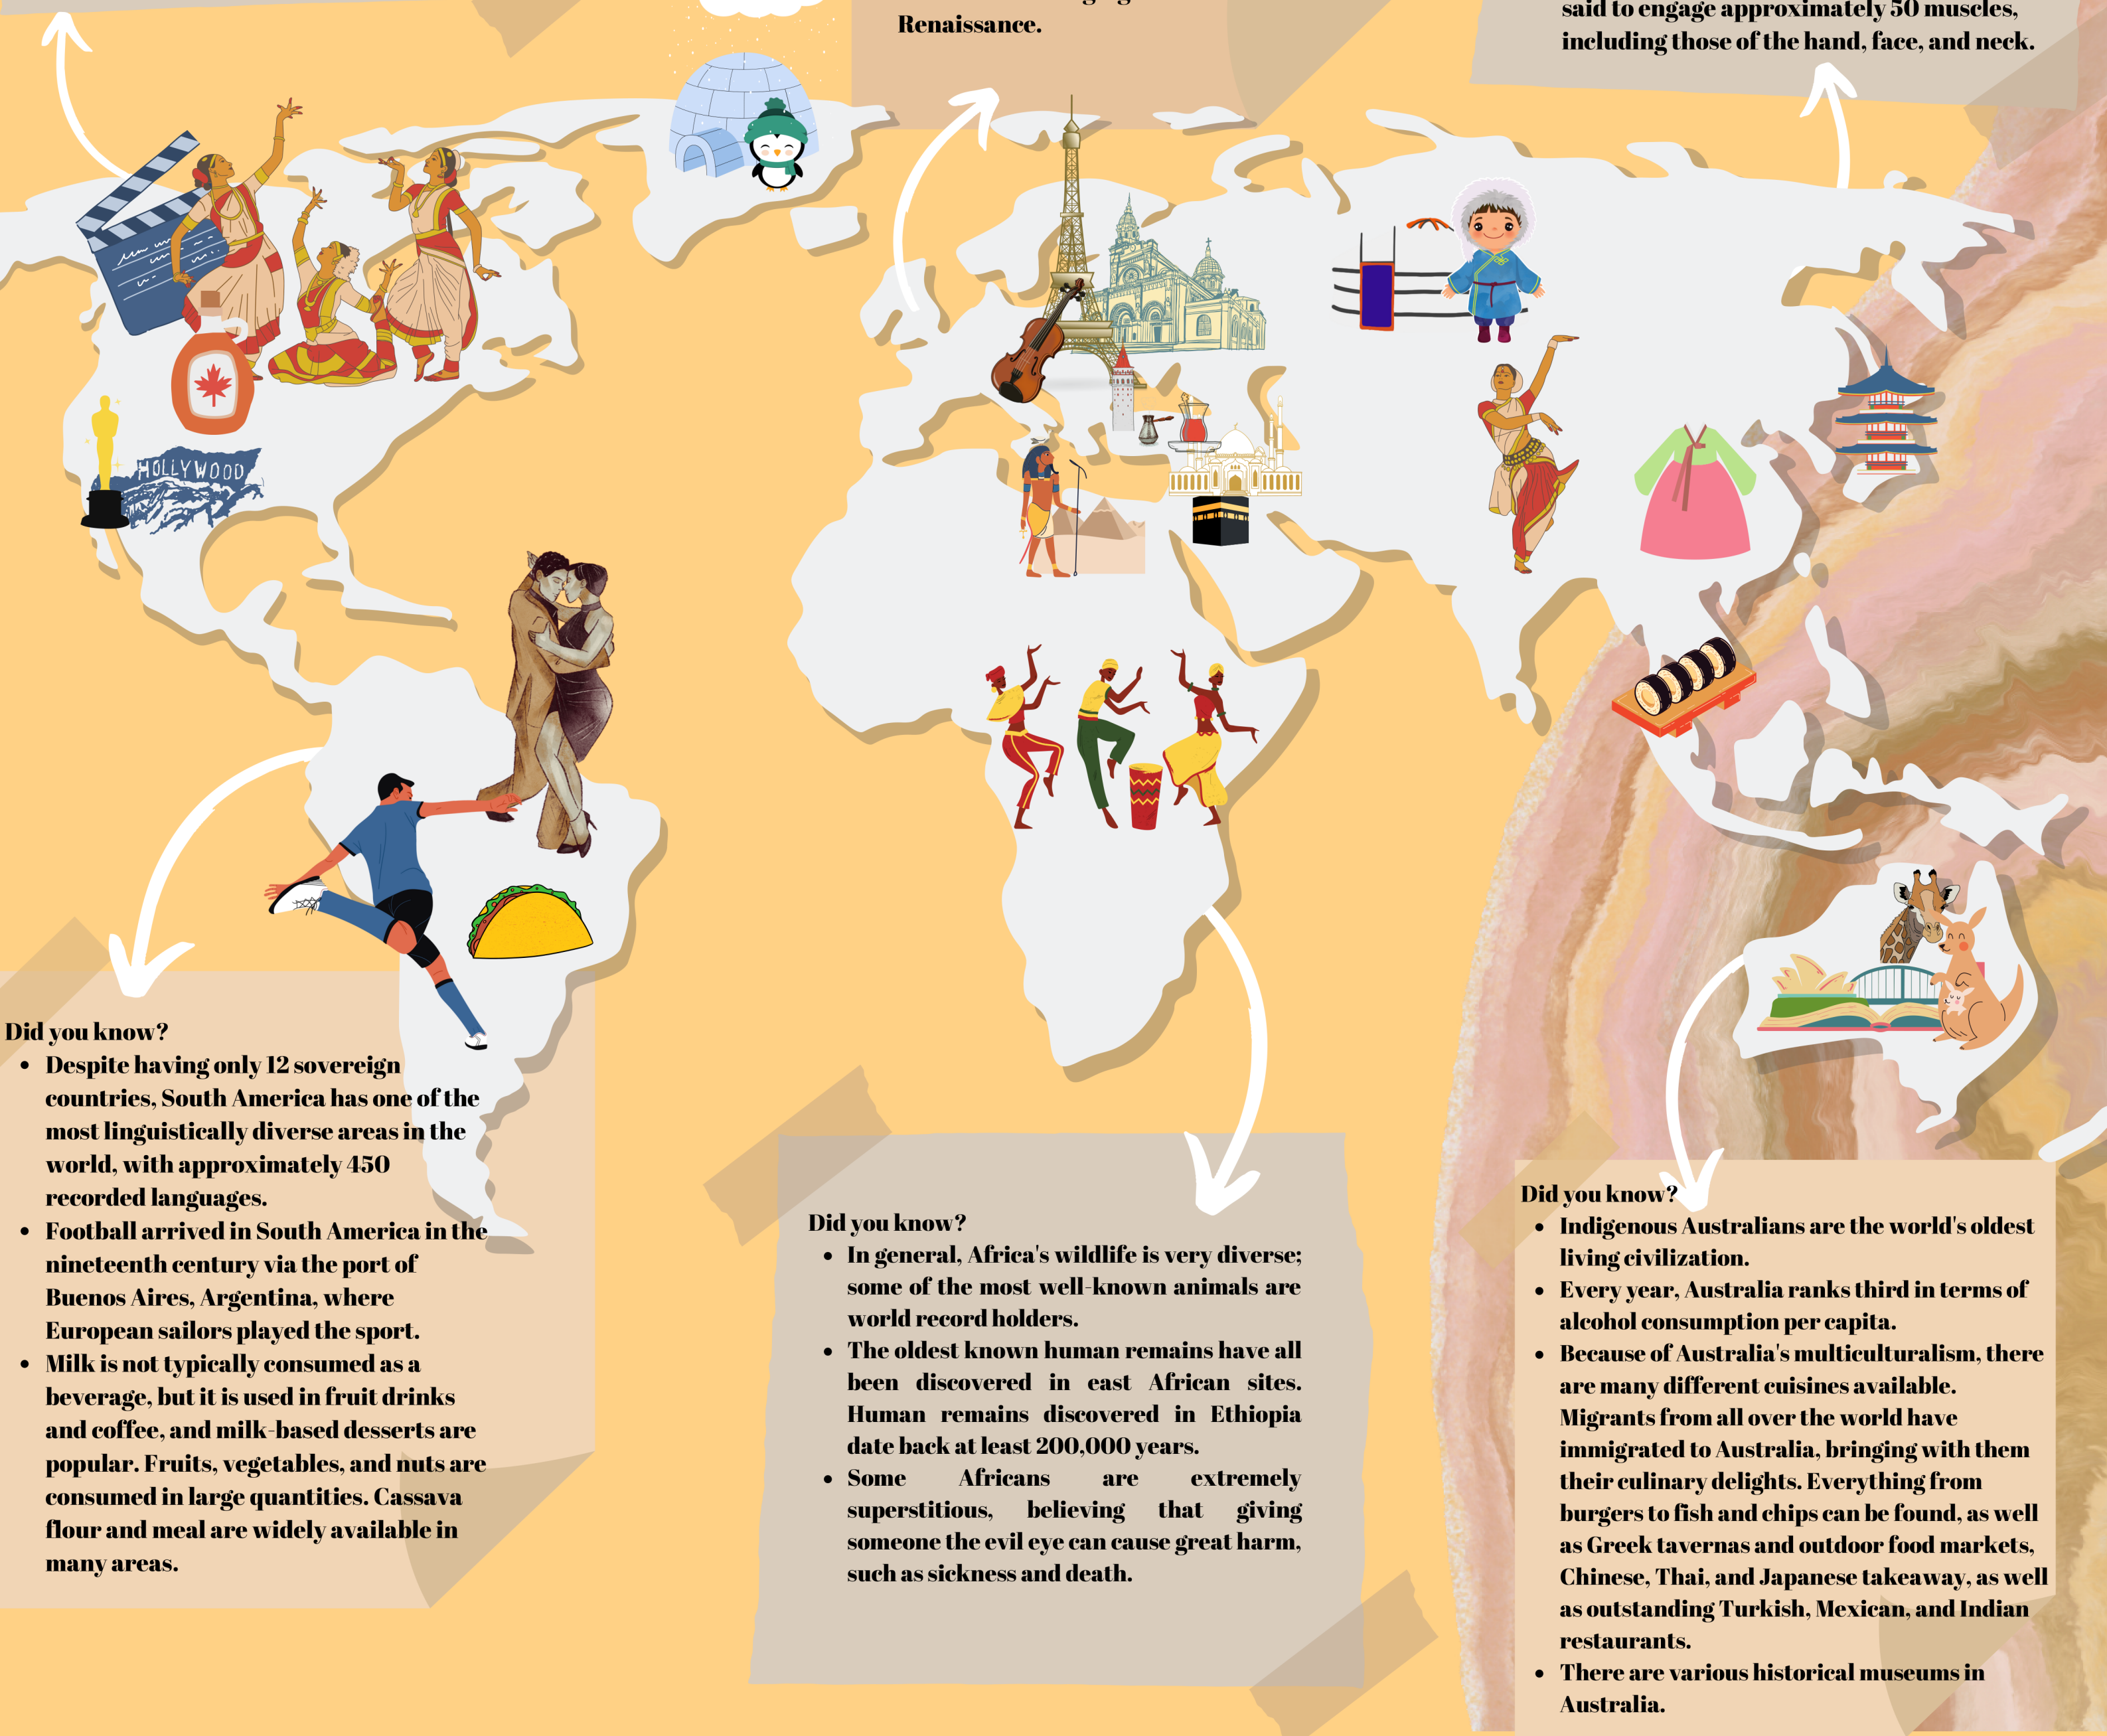

- The name "Canada" is most likely derived from the Huron-Iroquois word "Kanata," which means "village."
- The Toronto Film Festival is the world's second largest, and both Toronto and Vancouver are essential filmmaking centers.
- The Count of Monte Cristo was the first film completed in Hollywood in 1908. By 1915, the majority of major film studios had relocated to Hollywood, in southern California, owing to the warm weather and variety of scenery.

Did you know?

- Scientists believe that the mutation that resulted in blonde hair in Europe occurred around 11,000 years ago, during the last ice age.
- While Europeans can identify as Europeans, they also have their own country or regional identities. Europe has some of the world's most diverse cultures and traditions.
- More than 200 languages are spoken throughout Europe. The Prague Castle is the world's largest castle complex, with architecture ranging from Gothic to Renaissance.

Did you know?

- A building in Singapore was inspired by a Star Wars robot.
- Kyoto, Japan, has over 1600 temples.
- There are over 2300 recognized languages in Asia. However, Mandarin Chinese is the most widely spoken language in the continent and the world, with 918 million native speakers.
- Chopsticks, one of the world's oldest utensils, are still in use after 3,000 years. The chopstick, which originated in China, is steeped in folklore. Eating with a chopstick is said to engage approximately 50 muscles, including those of the hand, face, and neck.

Did you know?

- Despite having only 12 sovereign countries, South America has one of the most linguistically diverse areas in the world, with approximately 450 recorded languages.
- Football arrived in South America in the nineteenth century via the port of Buenos Aires, Argentina, where European sailors played the sport.
- Milk is not typically consumed as a beverage, but it is used in fruit drinks and coffee, and milk-based desserts are popular. Fruits, vegetables, and nuts are consumed in large quantities. Cassava flour and meal are widely available in many areas.

Did you know?

- In general, Africa's wildlife is very diverse; some of the most well-known animals are world record holders.
- The oldest known human remains have all been discovered in east African sites. Human remains discovered in Ethiopia date back at least 200,000 years.
- Some Africans are extremely superstitious, believing that giving someone the evil eye can cause great harm, such as sickness and death.

Did you know?

- Indigenous Australians are the world's oldest living civilization.
- Every year, Australia ranks third in terms of alcohol consumption per capita.
- Because of Australia's multiculturalism, there are many different cuisines available. Migrants from all over the world have immigrated to Australia, bringing with them their culinary delights. Everything from burgers to fish and chips can be found, as well as Greek tavernas and outdoor food markets, Chinese, Thai, and Japanese takeaway, as well as outstanding Turkish, Mexican, and Indian restaurants.
- There are various historical museums in Australia.